Crime Proof' Homes May Be In Offing

by Jim Arkison, Editor

"You'll have a lot of ugly homes but they will be much safer." Although that statement by Brea Police Chief Robert Wasserman drew appreciative chuckles it was the most significant aspect of a penetrating look into the police service provided Yorba Linda under contract with the Brea Police

The City Council and Police Task Force questioned the chief and Sgt. Larry Baker, department representative in YL, at length at last Monday night's session.

Councilman Dale Chaput occasioned the statement from Wasserman when he strongly advocated police involvement with city officials and governing bodies, especially the Planning Commission, when new residential develop-indicated that windows and locks could be mandated for new home and apartment construction which would contribute greatly in the fight against crime.

The idea was advanced that the the idea was advanced that the city take its own steps to legislate such locks and windows without waiting for the passage of state legislation to accomplish the same

Chaput's summation of the chaput's summation of the testimony given by police at the meeting was dubbed "designing for crime prevention." The subject will get consideration from the Council at subsequent regular sessions.

Chief Wasserman, Sgt. Baker and other council members said that equestrian groups are as concerned as the public about violations by horses and riders and that programs are being formulated to alleviate the

The City of Brea furnishes police protection by contract at a fee of $400,000 per year. The scope of this coverage and the physical makeup of the department was outlined in a statement by Wasserman and through written and oral questions directed by the council members, police task force and the public.

One person emphasized the need for a "Block Parent Program." In such a program individual homes have window signs which let children know that they can obtain help if they encounter trouble enroute to or coming home from school. This program will be further explored with school district officials.

The police chief was pleased to be able to report that his department has been able to obtain convictions in 90% of the felony cases that are handled by the courts. He said that while crime is on the increase in Yorba Linda, as it is elsewhere throughout the nation, the increase is at a lesser rate here.

Sgt. Baker revealed that rather than dividing coverage into that for Brea and that for Yorba Linda the department regards the arrange-ment as "one large city."

"Large" was described as 18 square miles of territory with an ar of 12 or so miles between the westernmost point of Brea to the easternmost point of Yorba Linda.

Baker outlined several crime preventative programs which are ongoing in Yorba Linda through the schools, clubs, organizations and with homeowner associations and individual residents. He listed an impressive array of functions he erforms as the commanding officer this city.

Unveiled was a "Pin Map" which shows the location and type of each crime committed in Yorba Linda in June. This map will be constantly updated and be cumulative for each ccessive month.

School Merger 'Up To Fullerton'

"Fullerton is the key to the thing. It's not Yorba Linda and it's not Placentia," Superintendent of Schools of the Placentia Unified School District, John O. Tynes told his board Monday night.

"I don't see any need for any meetings until Fullerton comes to grips with whether they want to let Yorba Linda de-annex." Tynes explained the situation.

In another show of hands and discussion of the possibility of the Yorba Linda School District merging Yorba Linda School District merging with that of PUSD, action got little further than the talking stage, Monday night, although the PUSD board unanimously approved to proceed with staff recommendations concerning the consolidation.

Reaction, though not pessimistic, was guarded.

Among recommendations made by Tynes to his board was that the Yorba Linda district complete a study to provide essential informa-tion so that the PUSD board can make a determination as to whether the merger of the two school districts might be harmful to PUSD either fiscally or educationally.

In further clarification, Tynes added: "Fullerton Union High School District would have to agree to accept the base revenue of the Placentia Unified District during this transition period (phasing high school students out of Troy High School in Fullerton into Placentia schools) or some other alternative that wouldn't put a financial burden on our district.

"And that all properties owned by Fullerton would be transferred to the Placentia district." At stake is a 40-acre high school site within the Staff was directed to investigate the situation and make recommendations for alleviating the problem.

The committee put off a decision on a request for a "no parking" zone due to a sight visibility problem on Oriente Drive at Zella Lane.

The sight problem stems from cars parked at nearby apartments and the committee felt it only proper that they hear from the people affected before making a decision.

Results of a trafic count which should be available at the next meeting of the committee will be awaited before action will be taken on a request for establishment of a "no parking" zone and installation of stop signs on Lemon from Imperial to Lakeview. Sight visibility and amount of traffic are the factors in this request. The committee approved a staff recommendation following study that the speed limit on Bastanchury Road from Imperial to Eureka be reduced from 45 to 40 miles per hour. The limit will remain at 45 from Eureka to Lakeview.

It was revealed that sidewalks will be installed on Vista from Lakeview to Ohio to accommodate children walking to the new Buena Vista scheduled to open September.

The Yorba Linda County Water District has changed insurance carriers for its employees which will offer additional coverage at a savings to the district of more than $1,000 annually, general manager Ralph Shook said this week.

Effective July 1, the district switched from Blue Cross to California Health Care Administrators for health insurance coverage for its 27 employees, shook said.

Blue Cross recently upped its premium costs 25 per cent. The new carrier, Shook said, "will give us comparable coverage at approxi-mately the old Blue Cross rate which in effect gives us comparable coverage at a lower cost." California Health Care also includes a life and accidental death policy for each employee which the Blue Cross plan didn't include, he

"The change in carriers is in line with the district's policy of holding budget costs," Shook said.

Word of the death of H.A. (Jack) Casperie, former long time resident and businessman in Yorba Linda, was received by his friend, Jerry B.

Casperie died on July 16 and interment was in Memory Gardens Mausoleum in Brea. In addition to operating a grocery store here he was an active member of the American Legion, based on his status as a veteran of World War recommendations of the plans of the two districts (Yorba Linda and Placentia), and that any updating of programs or buildings in either district would have to fit into a priority schedule. The big news in the sky--the Soviet-American space docking--kept most eyes glued to television screens and gave Americans a warm glow of good feeling. Some events on the ground, however, were causing not so good feelings. For example feelings. For example:

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had some harsh things to say about Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn. He described the Nobel Laureate's views as "a threat to peace," apparently because Solzhenitsyn has been warning Americans to be wary of Soviet intentions in detente.

Kissinger said, "If I understand the message of Solzhenitsyn, it is that the United States should pursue an aggressive policy to overthrow the Soviet system." That, of course, is not Solzhenitsyn's message. The message is "detente without illusions," but Kissinger seems to have decided to misunderstand it.

Kissinger's own message at his news conference, on the other hand, seemed to be that we can listen to Solzhenitsyn talk about the lack of freedom in the Soviet Union all right, so long as we don't take him very seriously for he's only a writer after all.

He told reporters he recommended that President Ford not see the Russian author, yet rumors were flying that the White House had tried without success to arrange a Ford-Solzhenitsyn meeting, presumably to make up for its previous rejection of the idea (and Press Secretary Ron Nessen's implausible explanations) at the time Solzhenitsyn was in Washington to address a large AFL-CIO-hosted banquet.

Solzhenitsyn warns that if detente is to work at all it must be on a quid pro quo basis, for the Soviets understand firmness but will exploit any sign of weakness.

This may seem a threatening view to Kissinger, who talks as if he believes that tiptoe diplomacy will be more effective with the Soviets.

If the final SALT II agreement is as much tilted to Soviet advantage as the Vladivostok proposals, Solzhenitsyn's warning could turn out to have been Portugal has slipped another notch toward a military-Communist totalitarian government.

The two largest vote-getting parties in the spring election--the Socialists and the Popular Democrats (PPD)--quit the coalition government and took to the streets to protest the increasingly antidemocratic tendencies of the powerful Armed Forces Movement (AFM).

At first glance the protests seemed a hopeful sign, but the long-range outlook isn't good. Outside the government, the Socialists and the PPD will have an increasingly hard time functioning as organized political parties. And it takes organization to mount effective demonstrations.

The AFM, in fact, may choose to ignore the demonstrations until they evaporate. That's the way they handled the seizure of a Catholic church-owned radio station by a handful of leftist workers recently.

Protests. Demonstrations. Some backing and filling by the AFM. Outcome: the leftists still have the radio station.

Dear Editor:
The Women's Auxiliary of the Yorba Linda Little League would like to thank you for the news coverage you have given us this year.

We who are associated with the who are associated with the league in any way, feel that this is a most worthwhile organization. It offers our boys a chance to gain a feeling of self-worth and to have confidence in themselves. It not only teaches them the rules of the gamand how to play it correctly, but teaches them to have respect for adults as well as other boys.

Having your newspaper publish team standings, team and individual accomplishments helps to further interest in the league and promote what it has to offer.

All the managers, coaches, boys and board members thank you again. We appreciate your interest in our activities.

Sincerely yours, Marilynn Harvey Secretary, Women's Auxiliary Yorba Linda Little League

Space Flights

Letter To The Editor:

Our country has just entered the eve of its bicentennial. It is sad that it could be the beginning of the end for this great country as I sit here watching Jules Bergman's program on the Apollo Soyuz Test Program. In the past few weeks we have seen such headlines as "The Close of the Space Race," "Value of U.S.: of Joint Space Flight Questioned,"

"And Now: Detente Goes Into Orbit," and "More Joint Space Fights Are Urged."

It is sad that few Americans, especially our Congressmen and President, are really aware of the true meaning of these sayings and of this last American flight.

James Oberg, who wrote the article, "More Joint Space Flights are Urged", is listed as a Washington specialist on space programs. This shows the stupidity we have in Washington.

How are we going to have more joint flights? This is our last possible manned flight in space until July, 1979, at the earliest.

In 1967, then Secretary of Defense McNamara, was concerned about Russia orbiting missiles, and now they can put men and equipment in orbit with us at their mercy for four years. We are less prepared than just before Pearl Harbor or Sputnik.

Dad had always set good examples and so I siezed upon the opportunity last week to take my grandson to his first circus. He was my alibi for going. I hadn't been in 10 years.

In fact, the last time I went it was the night the Watts Riots broke out. Fortunately, we got out of the area of the Sports Arena before the trouble had moved near that location.

I imagine it is much less expensive for the circus to put the show into arenas such as the Forum where we saw it last week but much of the color and atmosphere of the old tent shows is now missing.

There are no working animals, only those which perform. The roustabouts have shrunk alarmingly in numbers. The menagerie was spread out in three small tents. There was no sideshow nor colorful spielers. And most of the hawkers stood mute at their booths rather than trying to attract buyers with rapid talking sales pitches. Nevertheless, parents and grand-parents who took their children to the matinee performance made it unnecessary for the booth salesmen to shill. The voluncest to shill. The youngsters were buying every possible memento that the adults would shell out for.

The circus is still tremendous entertainment. The animal acts rivet the attention. The high wire walkers and trapeze artists attract the gasps and trapeze artists attract the garden of awe and admiration. The clowns are silly and delightful. Specialty acts of daring and skill can quiet even the children.

My grandson seemed to enjoy it between eating a hot dog, cotton candy, a sno cone and drinking soda pop. I had promised his folks he wouldn't come home with a bellyache so I didn't buy him peanuts or popcorn.

He has carried the tiger balloon around with him for days, has tooted on the horn and written with the pencils adorned with a circus pennant. We'll probably go again next year.

Government Growth Put Down By GOP

Recent action by the League of Cities to request a 10 per cent increase in the state income tax received strong opposition at a recent meeting of the Placentia-Yorba Linda Republican Assembly.

The Republicans voted unanimously to call for the League, which is made up of city-elected officials throughout the state, to retract its proposition using the state income tax as a tool to circumvent the intent of original laws which limit and protect the rights of citizens to live within a reasonable tax structure. The proposal by the League of Cities to increase the income tax would provide an added revenue of 10 per cent across-the-board in personal and business income tax; but distribution would be based on a formula favoring only poorer cities.

The Republicans cited recent events in which our government has called upon its citizens to live not just within the letter of the law, but also the intent of the law. The Republicans feel that since the original intent of the laws under which cities operate makes no provision for a mechanism bypassing the intent of the law, that in effect our government is not practicing what it preaches.

"Governments have been having a field day with unlimited growth and with virtually no restrictions on its size,," Andrew Alberti, president of the group explained. "Related to this is a greater demand upon the working class of America to support this overweight bureaucracy," he continued.

"The time has come for government to join the population and exercise concern on its overweight condition. It is not enough to tell us that we as citizens are demanding more services when those who may be making these demands are not the ones who are paying for them."

"We, the members of the Placentia-Yorba Linda Republican Assembly, want our government to begin taking off those excess pounds, trim down and reduce its intrusion into the private lives of its taxpayers.

"The total percentage of income in taxes to support government has risen from approximately 2-5 % in 1920 to an alarmingly high rate of about 45 per cent in 1975. Tax rate increases have been growing at an ever-increasing pace. It is conceivable that if this rate of growth continues, we will eventually be giving government 100 per cent of our earnings in taxes within the next 100 years.

"Actions such as these taken by the League of Cities and revenue sharing at higher levels of government are contributing to the problem," Alberti explained.

In concluding its opposition to the eague of Cities' action, the League of Cities' action, the Republicans proposed that the League should reconsider its position, and clean up its act by beginning to look for more methods creating efficient government at a minimal size.

Several years ago the State of California, using their police powers, pur-chased and tore down a little Catholic church that was in the way of the 57 Freeway. The small, mostly Spanish, congregation were paid the miserly sum of

Since then the congregation has met in various homes and buildings. Most recently they have used Placentia's community buildings in La Jolla and No one publicly objected, but according to a legal opinion of Placentia's City Attorney it is against the law based on separation of church

It's funny isn't it, when it comes to obscenity it seems the law works in favor of the peddlers of smut, and we hear a lot about freedom of expression; but when it comes to worshipping God in simple and meaningful services the laws work against just such beliefs as this nation was founded

Something is wrong someplace when citizens can't use their community buildings which were built with their tax dollars for spiritual inspiration. I am not a Catholic but its hard to justify taking away their church with one hand and denying them the use of a substitute building with the

There is no doubt the City Attorney and City Council of Placentia are following the letter of the law by denying the use of any public buildings for any religious purpose but it doesn't make it any more Private groups, clubs and organizations may use the community buildings and it seems to me that the churches should be entitled to the same courtesy. Laws are made by men and can be changed by men.

Tennis Team Ends Season

Placentia's Junior tennis team, comprised of boys and girls 14 years of age and under, completed their season with a second place season with a second place finish in the North Orange Coast League. They were 11 games behind the first place Whittier team. Match scores were:

Match scores were: Versus Sunny Hills - 56-11 nand 51-18; versus Sunset Hills - 56-16 and 49-21; versus Garden Grove -56-16 and 56-16; versus Fullerton - 39-41 and 48-39; versus Whittier - 39-37 and 34-48

Scoring is the same as in World Team Tennis and the comulative total determines

in its third year, is represented in each city with a World Team Tennis franchise, and five to sever leagues comprise each local district with up to twelve teams in each league.

It is estimated that 10,000 young players are expected to participate this year alone, according to Execu-tive Director John Troll. The program is for the young tennis player of intermediate ability who can gain experience in balanced competition and have fun playing in an organized program.

It takes seven praises to make up for one criticism according to one behavorial and Karen Strasler who count it as pure joy to labor with scissors and needle when the end result is theatrical.

It seems logical that anyone associated with performances would covet the star role. Not so, say Sandi and karen, "Oh sure, we almost always wind up filling in when somebody breaks a leg or the chorus line is thin, but by then the costumes are ready and we pretty well know the show". Dual-talented, Miss Stras-Dual-talented, Miss Stras-ler carried the lead in Valencia High School's 1974 production of "You Can't Take It With You".

"Ziegfeld Follies of 1920 is definitely a challenge because few of the design sketches are available and practically none of the materials used then can be found. A limited budget demands further creative ingenuity from the young designers. Endless hours of research are the basis for mood and style of the period which must be interpreted on the stage for an authentic looking show. (After all, remember how it really

"Did you know that is spite of the fact that in 1920 we were in a severe depression, people paid as much as $500 a seat for a Follies show?", queried Sandi. The quizzical look on her face told volumes of the history, philosophy, psy-chology and human values she had also learned from her research.

"Ziegfeld follies of 1920" recreated and produced by John Leitch and Bill Tynes, will be performed by The Ziegfeld Players on August 14, 15, and 16 at 8 p.m. and on August 17 at 2:30 p.m. at the Valencia High School Auditorium in Placentia. There's an old saying which goes - "you get what you pay for."
In many ways, this is true. However, it is not necessarily the case when it comes to buying furniture. To most of us, furniture represents an intoday's economy, we do want to get the most for our hard-earned dollars. It's important to know what to look for.

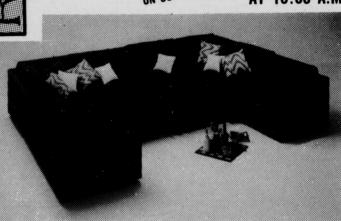

Let's start with uphol-

Let's start with uphol-Let's start with uphol-stered furniture. We shop for a sofa, and generally, we look for three things, does it look good?, is it comfortable? and, can we afford it? All three of these things are important to us. How-ever - will it last? Is is important to know what kind of frame is under all that cozy padding - and, that cozy padding - and, what's in the padding? what's in the padding?
